

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A sheet for color calibration, comprising: an output medium information patch which displays output medium information; a test pattern for color calibration; and at least one of a first reference patch which displays color information serving as a reference for color correction when the output medium information patch is read, and a second reference patch serving as a reference for correcting a feed length when the sheet for color calibration is read.